Dialogue:Be Safe!

Daisy: Our principal gave a speech to all of the students about safety rules yesterday.

Joe: I hope you paid attention!

Daisy: I tried, but my friend kept making me laugh.

Joe: That's not good. What did the principal say?

Daisy: He said we should always obey safety rules.

Joe: He's right! A police officer visited our school last week. He said they had an enormous problem at the police station after someone didn't follow a safety rule.

Daisy: What happened?

Joe: A police officer was sitting on a swivel chair, and another police officer shocked him with a monster mask! The officer fell off the swivel chair and broke his arm!

My father was furious.

I played baseball in the classroom.

Writing: Persuasive Paragraph

When you write a PERSUASIVE PARAGRAPH, you try to change someone's mind or show why something is important. You start with a topic sentence. This tells the reader what your opinion is before giving reasons (Firstly, secondly, thirdly, finally etc.) for why you believe this. At the end, you write a closing sentence that gives your opinion once more.

Write about an important safety tip. Why is it important?

Don't Use a Smart Phone When Crossing the Road

It is important not to use a smart phone when walking across the road. Firstly, you need to look where you are going so you don't trip and fall. Secondly, you must look out for cars and other vehicles so you don't get hit. Finally, you might walk into others if you aren't looking where you are walking. So, please remember to put your smart phone away when you walk across a street!

Your turn!

Write about an important safety tip and tell why it is important.
